WELCOME TO THE 2018-2019 SCHOOL YEAR!

Educators Rising exists to help you guide your students toward a high-quality, hands-on exploration of teaching. As a national network, we are able to build resources and create connections that can significantly boost your impact day-in and day-out — and help you avoid “reinventing the wheel.”

Educators Rising resources are designed to be integrated directly into elective courses and CTE programs of study or used in extracurricular programs. Whether your program is cocurricular or extracurricular, these resources have been carefully crafted and curated to help students take their first steps on the path to great teaching.

This guide highlights the benefits of joining the Educators Rising community, including the EdRising Virtual Campus, scholarships, national competitions, and leadership opportunities. We look forward to collaborating with you and your students.

Here’s to a year full of excellent teaching and learning experiences!

WHY SIGN UP

Creating a profile in the EdRising Virtual Campus is how teacher leaders and students join the national Educators Rising network! You need to be a member of the network to access all opportunities offered by Educators Rising, including state and regional conferences and national competitions. During the upcoming year, we'll communicate with you via email and the Virtual Campus. Be sure to keep an eye out for our emails so you don't miss important information on deadlines, resources available to you, networking opportunities, and more.

AFFILIATE WITH EDUCATORS RISING

Affiliating with Educators Rising is quick and easy. To affiliate, you and your students simply need to join the network through the EdRising Virtual Campus (educatorsrising.org/virtualcampus). Joining the national network is free although students will have to become dues-paying members in order to participate in certain activities, and members do receive a discount on conference registration (see Membership Levels and Dues, page 10). If your state or region is affiliated with Educators Rising, they may collect state dues. Visit bit.ly/EdRisingAffiliates to contact your state/regional coordinator.

GET STARTED NOW WITH THESE EASY STEPS:

1. Sign up additional teacher leaders.

You can add teacher leaders to your school by having them create profiles in the EdRising Virtual Campus, which will give them immediate access to most of the resources. Once the Educators Rising national office quickly approves them (within one business day), they will also have access to the private Teacher Leader Community and your school's Student Management section.

2. Get your new students to sign up as well!

Your students also register by creating profiles in the EdRising Virtual Campus; they'll need valid email addresses to do so. When they sign up, they'll be asked to select their school, which will connect them to your school's program. (Don't worry — you'll have a chance to approve them before they can access anything in your private School Community.) If you have returning students, they simply need to update their existing profiles at the beginning of each school year to stay connected.

3. Approve students to access your School Community.

When a student signs up, you will receive an email telling you that a new student has been assigned to your program, and you'll need to approve the connection. You'll want to approve students quickly after you receive these email notifications so they will immediately have access — waiting too long to approve students can slow down any momentum or excitement around your school's program. Log in to the EdRising Virtual Campus and go to the Student Management section in the Teacher Leader Community. Set the "Filter By" dropdown to "All Students" to see who is waiting to be approved. Remember, approving students indicates that they are a part of your Educators Rising program and gives them access to your School Community.

If you have returning students, they simply need to update their existing profiles at the beginning of each school year to stay connected.

4. Tag your students appropriately.

When you approve your students, they will automatically be given the status of "current." At any time, you can change the status to "no longer affiliated" if a student is no longer part of your school's program. At the end of the school year, don't forget to set the status of graduating students to "alumn." This allows you to refresh your student list every year and keep it accurate, as well as stay in touch with alumni of your program who you might contact to be possible mentors or guest speakers.

5. Write a description for your school on the School Community tab.

Make your School Community page more inviting by including a short, personal message to your students. Click on "edit" to add text to welcome them to the School Community and share ideas for how you intend to use the space and what you hope to accomplish with them over the coming semester or year.

6. Manage your school's discussion forum.

Your school has a private discussion board for you and your students to talk about content from the EdRising Virtual Campus, upcoming deadlines or activities for your Educators Rising program, or any teaching topic of your choosing. When setting up your School Community, we suggest that you create several discussion threads to get your students started. Here's an idea:

- ▶ Ask students to review the Educators Rising Standards in the Get Prepared: Teaching Skills section or at educatorsrising.org/standards. Encourage students to select those that resonate with them and post their reactions, then dissect the meaning and purpose of the standards in class.
- ▶ Have students form discussion groups and around the Ed Rising monthly topic. Encourage them to record their video reactions or submit blog posts on the topic to info@educatorsrising.org

EDRISING VIRTUAL CAMPUS

Distinct from the public Educators Rising website (educatorsrising.org), the EdRising Virtual Campus (educatorsrising.org/virtualcampus) is a dynamic, free online community for our members with one goal: to help students become great teachers. It serves as the hub for all Educators Rising information and activities and includes:

- ▶ Videos of National Board Certified Teachers in action;
- ▶ Original content — like engaging articles and videos — to help students develop their teaching craft and prepare for college;
- ▶ A private Teacher Leader Community for connecting with peers and managing your Educators Rising program; and
- ▶ Information about the 2019 Educators Rising National Conference, national competitions, honor society, and other programs.

National Board Videos

The National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS) created an extraordinary platform called ATLAS, which stands for Accomplished Teaching, Learning, and Schools. Their unique, online library is filled with authentic videos of National Board Certified Teachers (NBCTs) at work in their classrooms, paired with highly detailed reflective commentaries and instructional materials created by the featured teachers. While the videos (which are typically 15 minutes long) show accomplished teaching in action, the written reflections of NBCTs provide an extraordinary opportunity to get inside the minds of expert teachers.

In the Get Inspired section of the Virtual Campus, Educators Rising members can access 64 cases (National Board videos and reflective commentaries) straight from ATLAS. Sortable by subject and grade level, these cases are an extraordinary way to introduce aspiring educators to the profession.

To start integrating National Board videos into your program, check out the handy how-to article, “The Transformative Impact of National Board Videos,” which can be found in the Get Prepared: Teaching Skills section.

Resources and Tools for Developing Teaching Skills

In the Get Prepared section of the EdRising Virtual Campus, you and your students can discover more than 100 articles written by education experts, teachers, and students — all aimed specifically at supporting aspiring educators. This section of the Virtual Campus showcases content from powerful voices in education, including Mindset author Carol Dweck, National Teachers of the Year, and Global Teacher Prize finalists. The articles in this section are tagged to the Educators Rising Standards, ensuring that your students are building the skills and knowledge they need to become highly effective teachers.

Resources for College Planning and Job Hunting

Aspiring educators need support when choosing the right postsecondary program, getting in, paying for it, maximizing the opportunity, and finding employment after graduation. The Get Prepared section of the EdRising Virtual Campus features a library of articles, resources, and videos to help students on this journey.

Teacher Leader Community

Through the private Teacher Leader Community, you can connect with peers and access powerful program resources. Here you can find all kinds of materials to help you run your Educators Rising program, including templates and branded materials to save you time. Check out slide decks and flyers designed to help you spread the word about Educators Rising, and use the discussion boards to ask for and share feedback or new ideas.

You can also utilize the Teacher Leader Community to manage your rising educators; by approving students in the Student Management section, you confirm their connection to your Educators Rising program. During the year, you can quickly and easily message your students about upcoming events, deadlines, or Virtual Campus resources.

How to Use the EdRising Virtual Campus with Your Students

The content provided through the EdRising Virtual Campus can powerfully supplement the teaching courses you facilitate at your school. Feel free to adapt and use these materials in your program.

Looking for ideas? Check the Tips for Teacher Leaders tab in the Resources section of the Teacher Leader Community. The Teacher Leader Discussions section is also a great place to find (and ask for!) ideas on how other educators are using the Virtual Campus.

HERE ARE FOUR WAYS YOU CAN START USING THE VIRTUAL CAMPUS:

1. Kick off the year by sharing your profile pages.

Dedicate time in class or at an after-school meeting for students and teacher leaders to share and discuss their profiles (especially the “Why I Want to Teach” and “What I Want to Teach” sections).

2. Study Get Inspired: National Board Videos in-depth as a class.

These videos feature National Board Certified Teachers delivering high-quality instruction. Use one in class as a case study, and be sure to pause and leave time for discussion as the video unfolds. Lead students on a guided exploration of the downloadable “Instructional Materials” and “Reflective Commentary.” Assign a homework assignment to find one or two high-interest National Board videos, study them, take notes, and share findings with the group.

3. Show Get Inspired: Inspirational Videos at the start of class.

These TED Talks and other inspiring videos can motivate students and catalyze discussion. They make for a great opening activity!

4. Review recently posted competition guidelines with your classes.

Educators Rising national competitions are outstanding project-based learning opportunities that directly build the skills that excellent teachers need. Dedicate time in class for students to look through the available competitions and determine which they might be interested in pursuing.

5. Use the guided discussions questions posted on the Virtual Campus to facilitate conversations with your students around the Ed Rising monthly topic.

Encourage students to share their responses with other students around the country by submitting video or written reactions to info@educatorsrising.org.

The Virtual Campus is full of useful information, and we hope it will be an asset to you in the year to come.

EDUCATORS RISING STANDARDS

Created with support from the National Education Association (NEA), who provided a generous grant award for their development, the Educators Rising Standards bring clarity and coherence to the question on so many Educators Rising teacher leaders' minds: Am I focusing on the right things?

The seven standards define what high school students need to know and be able to do to take their first steps on the path to accomplished teaching. The standards represent a new, shared vision from the field; the teaching profession is mapping the front end of a coherent continuum, from the initial exploratory phase to entry into the profession to becoming an accomplished practitioner.

- ▶ Standard I: Understanding the Profession
- ▶ Standard II: Learning About Students
- ▶ Standard III: Building Content Knowledge
- ▶ Standard IV: Engaging in Responsive Planning
- ▶ Standard V: Implementing Instruction
- ▶ Standard VI: Using Assessments and Data
- ▶ Standard VII: Engaging in Reflective Practice

A diverse group of 12 practitioners formed the Educators Rising Standards Committee, including eight National Board Certified Teachers, two Educators Rising teacher leaders, and two State Teachers of the Year. The processes and protocols used to define the Educators Rising Standards were borrowed from the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS), who served as a partner and advisor at every stage of the project.

MEMBERSHIP LEVELS AND DUES

While membership in Educators Rising will continue to be free, this year we are rolling out a new dues-paying level of membership. Students who wish to participate in Educators Rising as Ambassadors or officers, or those students who wish to pursue scholarship opportunities or compete at the National Conference, must become dues paying members.

The membership fee for Educators Rising students is $10.

This new level of membership will be launched in the coming months. Please check both your email and the Virtual Campus for updates.

Please note, students planning on attending the National Conference (even if they are not planning on competing) will receive a discount on their conference registration fees as dues paying members. Early bird registration is February through April, so we recommend students pay their membership dues prior to that date.

If your state or region is affiliated with Educators Rising, they may collect state dues. Visit bit.ly/EdRisingAffiliates to contact your state/regional coordinator.

LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

One way Educators Rising helps students develop the strong leadership traits found in high-quality educators is by offering opportunities for student leadership, including the Educators Rising National Student Leaders. Among other responsibilities, these students add their youth perspectives to education conversations at the national level; serve as Educators Rising representatives at local, state, and national functions; and collaborate with constituents to ensure that Educators Rising students have a voice in our program and event development.

This group of student leaders includes officers elected by the Educators Rising student membership in a national online election, as well as members appointed by the Chief Executive Officer of PDK International, Educators Rising's parent organization.

The deadline to apply for Educators Rising National Student Officer candidacy is January 15, 2019, and the deadline to nominate your students to be appointed as Educators Rising National Student Cabinet Members is April 30, 2019. Find more information in the Get Active section of the EdRising Virtual Campus.

Educators Rising strongly believes in the importance of student voice, and another opportunity for students to get more involved and share their experiences is the Educators Rising Ambassador Program. Ambassadors add leadership experience to their college applications and résumés, have their voices heard on a national level, and network virtually with other rising educators and teachers from across the country. Application submissions for the 2018–2019 school year will be open through September 14th, and will re-open for the 2019–2020 school year in June 2019; learn more in the EdRising Virtual Campus.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The 2019 Educators Rising National Conference will take place June 21–24, 2019, in Dallas, Texas. All Educators Rising members can participate in this action-packed event filled with networking opportunities, competitions, and professional development for students and teachers alike; breakout workshops will feature national education leaders.

Conference registration opens on February 1, 2019, with early bird registration discounts ending on April 22, 2019. For details on how to register for this year's conference and enter national competitions, visit the Get Active section of the EdRising Virtual Campus. Dues paying student members will receive discounts on conference registration fees.

NATIONAL COMPETITIONS

Educators Rising competitions offer rising educators exciting, authentic opportunities to measure their creativity, skills, and initiative against high standards and their peers from across the country. Some states and regions hold preliminary rounds for competitions, and the final rounds take place on-site at the Educators Rising National Conference in June. This year, we are offering 18 competitions for high school and middle school students, as well as two for college students. The deadline to register and submit entries for national competitions is April 22, 2019.

EDUCATORS RISING HONOR SOCIETY

Launching in 2019, the Educators Rising Honor Society is a distinction that recognizes the academic accomplishments of our student members. This honor serves to elevate the image of teaching by highlighting these high-achieving students who are dedicated to a career path in education.

To qualify, students must:

- ▶ Be a high school junior or senior
- ▶ Have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, including grades from the first semester of the current academic year
- ▶ Be a dues-paying member of Educators Rising
- ▶ Pay a $5 application fee

Those students who are accepted into the Educators Rising Honor Society will receive a personalized certificate of recognition. Those individuals whose schools will allow them to walk with honor cords at graduation may purchase a bulk package for $20 which includes the application fee/certificate of recognition and honor cords to wear at graduation. Honor cords may also be purchased separately at a cost of $20 by Honor Society members and Teacher Leaders only.

This honor is a résumé-building opportunity for students and a great way for them to receive the recognition they deserve for their academic achievements. Visit www.educatorsrising.org for more information, and look for email updates to come from the national office throughout the year.

EDRISING ACADEMY CURRICULUM*

Rooted in the Educators Rising Standards, the EdRising Academy curriculum emphasizes fundamental teaching practices that are critical for high school students as they take their first steps on the path to becoming accomplished professionals. EDUCATORS RISING “BEGINNING TO TEACH” MICRO-CREDENTIALS*

Developed in partnership with Digital Promise, Educators Rising offers five “Beginning to Teach” micro-credentials. Mapped to the Educators Rising Standards, the Educators Rising micro-credentials (or digital badges) are performance-based assessments that provide students with opportunities to demonstrate their competencies on the road to great teaching. To earn micro-credentials, students upload their portfolios and have them scored by expert educators. Passing scores help rising educators boost their résumés and showcase their skills.
